

Sunday March 11
Making Good Connections

Glenna Holloway

Making Good Connections

It's hard to let another know you care,
And words are awkward, inefficient things.
The surest way to help someone repair
A damaged self is when you bring
An open, understanding mind to bear
In tandem (nonjudgmental, without strings)
With fellow human hurts. Invest a share
Of love—and soon, two souls begin to sing.