

MAKING GOOD CONNECTIONS

It's hard to let another know you care, and words are awkward, inefficient things.
The surest way to help a girl repair a damaged self is when you bring an open, understanding mind to bear in tandem, (nonjudgemental, without strings) a fellow human's ills. Invest a share of heart--and soon two wholes will learn to sing.

--Glenna Holloway